

Concerns: Waste-to-energy?

There are several concerns surrounding WtE. This part of the website provides some information about dioxins, and the costs of smaller systems, as well as the effect of recycling on WtE strategies. Of increasing importance is the need to use the heat to offset carbon emissions and climate change. Community ownership of plants is also covered, as well as the concern that there are not enough sites for multiple, smaller systems.